

Herzliche Einladung zur LiDS Lunch Lecture mit Prof. Dr. Yufang Ruan

Early home literacy activities play a critical role in children's reading development. This lecture will present findings from a study linking children's home literacy activities to their school readiness and reading achievement at grade 4, using data from the Progress in International Reading Literacy Study (PIRLS) 2021. Research proposals using data from the Mehrsprachigkeitsentwicklung im Zeitverlauf (MEZ) study will also be discussed.

Prof. Dr. Yufang Ruan

Prof. Dr. Yufang Ruan is ZJU100 Professor at College of Education, Zhejiang University (China) and serves as Early Childhood Care and Education Consultant for UNESCO Headquarter. Her research concerns early childhood development and developmental disorders, in particular how language environment interacts with children's emergent speech and reading skills. Funded by the WERA Visiting Researcher Awards, Yufang is visiting Research Centre LiDS, University of Hamburg and IEA Hamburg in October and November 2024.
