

Universität Hamburg
DER FORSCHUNG | DER LEHRE | DER BILDUNG

FAKULTÄT
FÜR ERZIEHUNGSWISSENSCHAFT
FAKULTÄT
FÜR GEISTESWISSENSCHAFTEN

LiDS CODILAC

Ringvorlesung

Everyday multilingualism

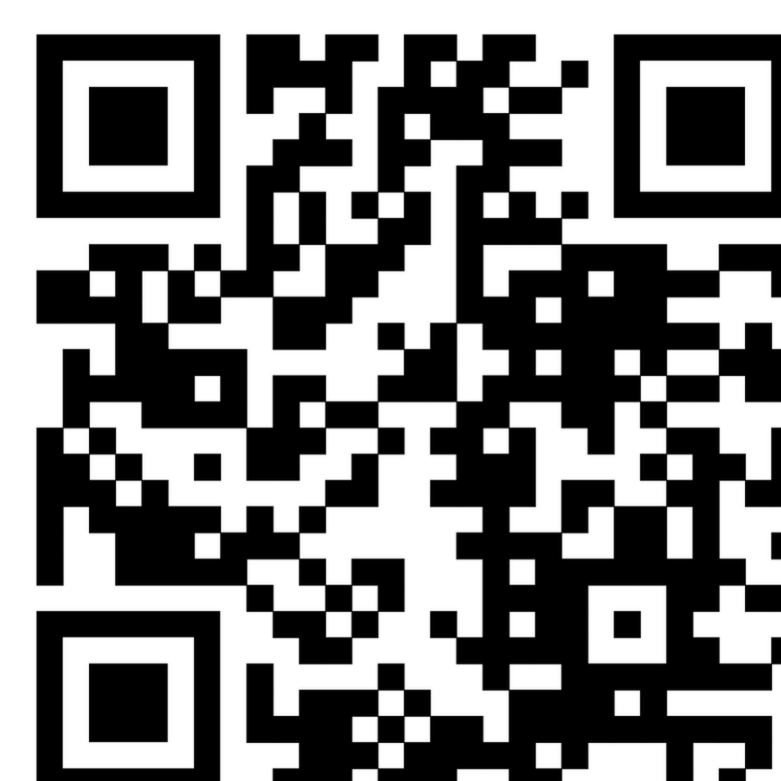

Linguistic diversity is a feature of all contemporary differentiated societies around the world. Dialects and standard languages, migrant and minority languages, different modalities and registers coalesce in public and private lives. On the one hand, diverse language users may experience barriers to participation in social institutions; on the other hand, multilingualism can be a great personal asset that enhances individual wellbeing.

This interdisciplinary lecture series examines different multilingual settings around the world, as well as the structures for dealing with multilingualism in those settings. Scholars representing the education and humanities faculties thereby investigate the consequences of multilingualism for individuals and society. The series will conclude with a critical consideration of the role of research in examining everyday multilingualism around the world and its impact on individual and groups of language users.

Dienstags,

18:15-19:45 Uhr,

Raum 06 (Von-Melle-Park 8)

KOORDINATION

Dr. Sarah McMonagle, Fakultät für
Erziehungswissenschaft, Forschungszentrum
Literacy in Diversity Settings (LiDS) / Olga
Lopopolo, Fakultät für Geisteswissenschaften,
CODILAC, beide Universität Hamburg
<https://www.zfw.uni-hamburg.de/oeffentliche-vortraege/sommersemester/02-everyday-multilingualism>

Universität Hamburg
DER FORSCHUNG | DER LEHRE | DER BILDUNG

FAKULTÄT
FÜR ERZIEHUNGSWISSENSCHAFT
FAKULTÄT
FÜR GEISTESWISSENSCHAFTEN

LiDS CODILAC

Ringvorlesung

Everyday multilingualism

Dienstag, 18:15-19:45 Uhr,
Von-Melle-Park 8, Raum 06

05.05.2026 Opening lecture: Introducing Everyday Multilingualism

Prof. Dr. Ingrid Piller, Faculty of Education, University of Hamburg

19.05.2026 Addressing Linguistic Unease: Healthcare Communication for Migrant Patients in Northern Ireland

Dr. Nicole Marinaro, Faculty of Education, University of Hamburg

26.05.2026 Whose Language Counts? Linguistic Diversity in the Age of Large Language Models

Carolin Holtermann, University of Hamburg Business School

02.06.2026 The Multilingual Listener: Learning New Sounds in L2 Italian

Dr. Andrea Pešková, Institute for Romance Philology, Freie Universität Berlin

09.06.2026 Resistance Habitus: Kurdish Heritage Language Education in Germany

Martin S. Derince, Faculty of Education, University of Hamburg

16.06.2026 Language Policies and Multilingual Language Practices in Malaysia

Prof. Dr. Stefanie Pillai, Department of English Language, University of Malaya

23.06.2026 A Kaleidoscope of Linguistic Choices: Multilingual Constellations in World Englishes Settings

Prof. Dr. Edgar Schneider, Department of English and American Studies, University of Regensburg

30.06.2026 The Search for „Critical Communicative Repertoire Awareness“: Participatory Research in Italian Middle Schools

Dr. Andrea Leone-Pizzighella, Institute for Applied Linguistics Eurac Research, Bolzano-Bozen

07.07.2026 Panel discussion: What Can Research Do for Everyday Multilingualism? On the Relationship between Language Researchers and Language Users

Panelists: Prof. Dr. Drorit Lengyel, Faculty of Education, University of Hamburg / Dr. Loy Lising, Department of Linguistics, Macquarie University, Sydney / Dr. Claudia Mendes, Knowledge Exchange Agency, University of Hamburg / Dr. Jenia Yudytska, Faculty of Education, University of Hamburg
– Chair: Dr. Sarah McMonagle, Faculty of Education, University of Hamburg

Die Ringvorlesung wird gemeinsam organisiert vom Forschungszentrum LiDS (Fakultät für Erziehungswissenschaft) und dem CODILAC Projekt (Fakultät für Geisteswissenschaften), Universität Hamburg.

KOORDINATION

Dr. Sarah McMonagle, Fakultät für Erziehungswissenschaft, Forschungszentrum Literacy in Diversity Settings (LiDS) / Olga Lopopolo, Fakultät für Geisteswissenschaften, CODILAC, beide Universität Hamburg

<https://www.zfw.uni-hamburg.de/oeffentliche-vortraege/sommersemester/02-everyday-multilingualism>